Sir

14 Jan 1995

I suppose since you wrote your first book on such a controvial issue such as you've been writing about, you have more than likely gotten letter's from crank's who have only wasted your time and your patience. I do not intend to do eigther, I do not even exect a return of letter. But as a reader of all your book's I felt I should let you know how I felt, I may have been to young to comprehend what happend in 1963 as I was only 5 at the time J.F.K was shot. But after nearly two year reading about political assassination, mostley reading your book's. It is only fair to state other book's that I have come across they are as follow's, J. S. Meagher, H. Roffman, Mark Lane, Epstien, Buchanan, I have spelled the last name wrong but I think you know who I mean. I have read the entire White-wash series including MLK and James Earl Ray, the only book by yourself I have not read is Oswald in New Orleans which is out of print. I did not write this letter to criticize you or praise you but to thank you for putting light on a subject so riddled with dishonesty that you have tried very hard for people to under-stand what happened to such a fine man as J.F.K. If you do reply to this letter could you please bring me up to date with your work, plus could you recomend work I should read on the RFK shooting, namely one that's not biased in favour of the one's it protect's one that is critical of the investigation. I would have like to have learned the response you get from the public on such a matter of this kind. I must ask if you are familiar with at a film called Executive action which starred B. Lancaster & R. Ryan I found some pretty close to the bone not just going by it is it possible that the Fair Play for Cuba could have been a front to line Oswald into the position he found him-self, or is this to far-fetched P.T.O

I have this letter ready to mail off some time in June but finally over the holidays, I must record that I don't need your book's assistance or even have time to — except I took it back to Waterstone's and had a look and found it's not there. Sorry about that. I'm sure Council's can't keep up with modern publishing trends but you should be ashamed, really you should be making a profit by now. Anyway I found it very helpful & enjoyable. Thanks again.
